Hdscreen can't decide what it wants to watch? A single-click TV Guide has the answer! Which means you don't have to browse through all your favorite channels just to find something new. With an interactive grid that includes everything from who's on now, when their next show will be on, access to related programming, and best of all how long they'll be on for. Once you log in using your PIN number or login information, the software sets up a personalized TV history for you. What else do you need? Just install it and let it do its job. It's easy enough for anyone to use! Then watch the shows of your dreams without any stress whatsoever. The software basically allows you to watch many channels on your PC for free. You just have to have a high speed internet connection and a good media player that supports all video formats. The software can be downloaded from their website, from different file hosting websites like mediafire, hotfile etc.

The application allows you to watch multiple Free-to-Air (FTA) TV channels in the following categories:

TVhome Media 3 features an integrated system that allows you to watch both Free-to-Air (FTA) and Pay TV channels at the same time. The program has a number of different ways that you can watch TV channels.

The application is an online television guide that allows you to watch TV shows and movies from a large number of different providers. This includes video tracks for many FTV channels, radio stations and local broadcasters.

The application allows you to browse through a large number of streaming videos online at the same time from a wide range of TV providers, including the BBC, Disney, CNN, HBO and many other service providers.

This application supports retargetable advertising technology which means you will get relevant advertisements based on the programs currently being watched by users of your software. The relevant ads will appear in real-time while the program is being watched.

This application allows users to watch TV shows and movies online through a variety of different platforms including ones for both Windows and Mac.

The application allows you to watch TV shows recorded on DVDs or downloaded from the internet. The software is also able to record video broadcasts that are being aired on TV. With this feature, you are able to save the videos that you have already recorded.

The application allows user to record their favorite movies, TV shows, news programs etc. online just like they would watch them at home by streaming them through the Internet directly onto their computer or other device without having to download them first. Once they are recorded, the user can play them back at any time while watching over the Internet.

The application allows you to watch videos or other forms of media while working on other applications on your computer. This is because it uses only part of your computer's overall processing power to display the media being played back. It also does not consume too much memory or other system resources.

The application allows you to broadcast an unlimited number of video channels through your website or blog by integrating a personalized TV Guide onto it. This is because you can make use of their hosting services in order to bring an interactive TV guide directly onto your website for free! The software will come with full support for HTML5 and Flash based video players.
